THE BANKING INTERESTS OF DAKOTA.-Gilbert A. Peirce, the governor of Dakota, has sent to the Secretary of the Interior a supplement to his annual report, published in yesterday's STAR, giving some points in regard to the banking institutions of the territory. The report says: "The growth of banks and banking institutions has fully kept pace with the development of the territory in other respects. There are now 195 banks in the territory, o which 35 were national and 160 private. The capital is $4.514,000, and the surplus $592,359 In 1878 there were only 11 banks, with a capital of $70,000, and in 1880 24, with a capital of $440,000.

THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

Architect Clark Gives an Account of the Past Year's Improvements. Mr. Edward Clark, the architect of the Capitol, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, states that the north front and portions of the eastern and southern fronts of the Capi- ance of $1.19. tol have been cleaned and the work is still in 284.646.02 progress, this being the first thorough cleaning of the exterior marble work since the construction of the building. The building has been put in thorough repair and the ventilation of the Senate chamber improved. The necessity for the increase in the capacity of the steam tuted in part for gas is mentioned. Mr. Clark states that owing to the electric lights at the head of the stairways to the terrace attracting insects which disfigure the building, he is convinced that no very bright light should be used in the grounds near the building, particularly during the summer season. cloak rooms, lobbies, and stairways by the Edison company has given satisfaction, and he

He states that the mode of lighting the Senate recommends that incandescent electric light-ing be placed in the restaurants, cloak rooms, lobbies, and stairways of both wings and in some other rooms where artificial light is needed during the day. The north terrace to the western line of the building will be completed during the present season, and fair progress is being made in the construction of the south and west terraces. Considerable difficulty has been met with to secure firm foundations for the western portion of this work, as the ground has been filled from 13 to 25 feet. Wells have been sunk at suitable intervals to the original soil, and these are filled with concrete and masonry as piers for

REPORT OF THE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT. Mr. Olmsted, the landscape architect, in his report, which is incorporated in Mr. Clark's report, states that during the year the most important work in carrying out the design for im-provements exterior to the main walls of the Capitol has been that of the south approach and race. Before Congress meets again a section of vaulted chamber beneath the roof of the terrace are expected to be in use. These will be suitable only for storage and document rooms. The construction of the western section will provide a number of well-lighted rooms for committee rooms. Progress has been made upon the platform designed to serve as the base of the intended staircase of the west front of the Cap-

OTHER' WORK UNDER ARCHITECT CLARK'S story for the convenience of juries; granite steps have been erected at the main entrance: iron window guards placed in the lower story for the security of records, and the whole building kept in good repair.

An iron frame green house, 72x17 feet, has been erected adjoining and at the south of the superintendent's lodge in the botanic garden. 1,450 square yards of asphaltic concrete walks have been laid on the Pennsylvania avenue side of the grounds. The amount expended on the Capitol extension was $43,000; on the Senate ventilation, $6,000; on the Capitol grounds, $52,000; on the Capitol terraces, $56,000; lighting the building and grounds, $25,000; enlarging court house District of Columbia, $1,500. An Important Railroad Decision. The Secretary of the Interior has rendered a decision in the case appealed to him from the lecision of the commissioner of the general land office by the Southern Pacific railroad company. The commissioner had issued an order throwing open certain lands along the line of the Southern Pacific railroad in California, which he claimed belonged to the grant of the Texas Pacific and had been forfeited by that road to the government. The Southern Pacific laid claim to the land because it came within its grant, but the Secretary has sustained the commissioner, on the ground that the land was granted to the Texas Pacific, and that the grant of the Southern Pacific was exclusive of grants to any other road. As this land had been forfeited by the Texas Pacific, and was not subject to the grants made to any other road.

to the grants made to any other road, it re-verted to the government, and was therefore properly declared open to settlement. The Weather Bureau as a Witness. The signal service was put to a new use yesterday in Boston in the sensational divorce case of Taber vs. Taber-Downs. When the Rev. W. W. Downs was surprised in the bedroom of Mrs. Taber last August, partially disrobed, and with the gas turned down low, he explained that the night was warm and he had removed his outer garments to secure greater comfort, and the inference was that Mrs. Taber had removed her dress and substituted a dressing sack from the same cause. Yesterday Sergeant O. B. Cole, who has charge of the signal service office in Boston, testided that on the day in question, August 17, the thermometer between 7 and 11 p. m. ranged between 67° and 64°, while a tresh southwest wind was blowing at the rate of fourteen miles per hour at 11 p.m.

ELECTION TALK IN WASHINGTON. Interest in the New York and Virginia Contests.

DEMOCRATS HOPEFUL OF LEE'S ELECTION BUT DUBIOUS AS TO THE LEGISLATURE. The elections monopolize attention in Wash ington to-day, New York and Virginia naturally coming in for the largest share of interes and discussion. With regard to Virginia a general feeling of confidence in the election of Gen. Lee prevailed in democratic circles and a manifest apprehension of loss of the legislature. It is admitted by persons who have taken part in Ernst, at Sullivan, Ind., vice Uriah Caulson, suspended; Patrick Gibbons, at Keokuk, Iowa, Mahone has a most complete and efficient pothe democratic canvass in Virginia that Gen. vice S. M. Clark, suspended; G. R. Rodman, at Frankfort, Ky., vice J. G. Hatchitt, suspended; which he selected for his battle-ground. He has managed his entire canvass in person, and his skill as a political leader is conceded by his opponents. The democrats have scarcely any organization. In deed, they have not attempted much in that line. Their efforts have been directed from the first to getting their full vote out. Th stump speaker is still a political power in Virginia. The people of the state have an inherent love for oratory and declamation. The demo-Elijah H. Parsons, at Towanda, Penn., vice J. Cratic managers sent speakers to every portion of the state, and they relied upon this and Gen. Lee's tour to arouse democratic enthusiasm. Information gathered by a STAR reporter to-day from democrats who have had the confidence of Chairman Barbour and the state committee was to the effect that the means employed had stirred the democratic hosts to the very depths, and that a full party vote would be polled. One gentleman who has visited Alexandria frequently of late in relation to the canvass "The democratic managers have not really felt the uneasiness of late which they professed, but they realized that it was dangerous to inspire a feeling of confidence within the party. The state committee are absolutely confident of the election of Lee and a democratic legislature

WITH REGARD TO NEW YORK, the hopeful feeling which has animated the democrats during the past week or so seems not to have abated. The principal fear is that the County democracy may prove treacherous to Hill. The bitter rivalry between the County democracy and Tammany has been a marked feature of political campaigns for some years. Tammany was a staunch supporter of Hill, while the County democrats urged Cooper for the gubernatorial nomination. When the convention met it was discovere that Hill, with the shrewd judgment of a skillul politician, had so organized his forces as to leave his opponents no chance. Tammany returned to New York city with flying colors. ubilant over the nomination of Hill, while the County democrats, who hold the position o "regulars" in the party, were sullen and sore at their discomfiture. The Tammany speakers ocrats had arranged to "knife" Hill. It is ad submitted to the District Commissioners. RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 3 .- Last night's consultations and preparations for to-day's election terminated with increased hope and expecta- the state county officers will be chosen. diminished hope among the republicans. This feeling applies to both the state ticket and the legislature. News received by republicans, Gorman. greatly changing their expectations as to the vote in the Norfolk and Petersburg congressional districts, checked the growing confidence of a few days past in Wise's election. On the other hand the democrats were not encouraged by reports from the southwest. Democrats expect great changes in portions of the black belt, especially in the counties of Charlotte, Mecklenburg, Halifax and Pittsylvania, and freely admit that they are benefited by Gen. Mahone's neglect of those largely colored counties in order that he might the more liberally and successfully look after the doubtful counties where the use of the sinews of political warfare would promote the capture of the legislature. His intimates profess hope of Wise's election and adhere to the claim of fifty-seven members of the house of delegates and enough senators to give them the legislature on joint ballot. Cautious democrats believe that they will have fiftythree of the one hundred members of the house which with their certain control of the senate would make them masters of the legislature by a comfortable majority. Chairman Barbour's confidence is quite as strong as Gen. Mahone's on the other side. Gen. Lee's confidence in his election is absolute, and he counts upon his election by a very much larger majority than his friends expect. Mr. Wise merely repeats the hopeful expectations which he has expressed to his friends for a fortnight past. It is a sufficiently accurate statement of the situation on the afternoon of the election that the democrats will probably elect both their state.

Both parties have presented their own candi-dates for commissioners, and owing to the failure of a portion of the republican press to support all the republican nominees a split ticket has been printed, and is being of-fered to voters to-day, containing the names of a portion of the nominees of each party. The contest over the election of county commis-sioners is provoked by the condition of the county finances and the declaration that the present management has been reckless and ex-travagant. The chief contest to-day, however, is over the adoption or rejection of new election law framed at the last session of the Illinois legislature. The new law provides for small voting precincts, and is framed very closely after the New York law. The republicans and the independent movement favor the new law while the democrats are opposing its adoption.
